A note from the President..

Spring is officially here and students are enjoying spring break this week. School projects, practices, events, and performances have filled their days. The break is a time for students to be reenergized as they prepare for the upcoming weeks leading to the completion of the spring semester.

We celebrated the opening of our innovative Omaha Campus on March 7th. I was thrilled to see so many Midland alumni and friends join us to tour the beautiful facility and learn about the graduate programs and adult learning opportunities that will take place on the new campus.

One of the best parts of being president is having the opportunity to meet with alumni from around the country. I am inspired when I hear their stories and see their enthusiasm for Midland. I am truly looking forward to attending the events planned in the coming months.

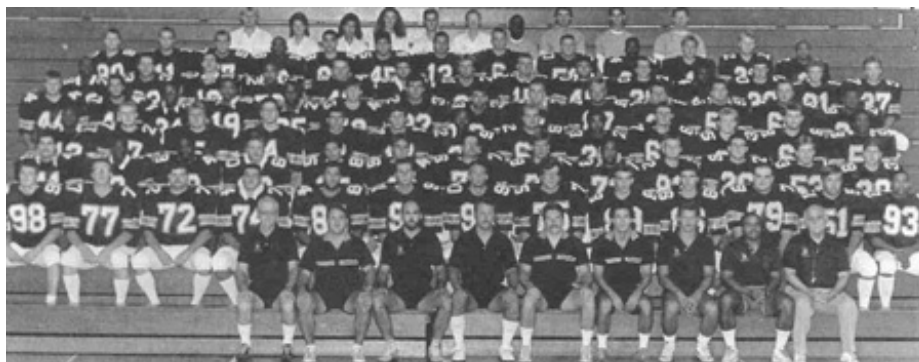

Thank you for all that you do to allow us to provide innovative academic programs and opportunities. Your faithful support and encouragement inspires our students every day to learn and lead in the world with purpose.

Maddison Bittner Named Nebraska State Student Nurse of the Year

Maddison Bittner, a Midland University senior nursing student, was selected by the Nebraska State Student Nurses Association as the Nebraska State Student Nurse of the Year at their annual convention in February. Midland nursing students have been selected for this award three out of the past four years.

In addition to this award, Bittner was part of a group of 20 Midland students recently named to the 2017 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. She was also chosen as this year's recipient of the Harms-Wehrbein Nursing Scholarship which is awarded to students who have a cumulative G.P.A. of 3.0 or above, are active in the Student Nurses Association, and demonstrate characteristics of caring and potential for nursing leadership.

The Midland Student Nurses Association also won the state award for best community project for making "busy" blankets for Alzheimer patients. A spaghetti dinner is being held in April to raise money for the Alzheimer project at Nye Legacy.

Share Your Midland April Fool's Day Stories

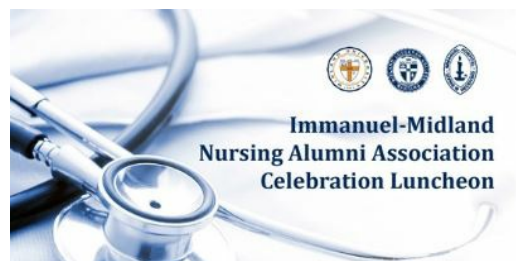

Strange sights sometimes make their debut on campus - a fountain of suds, a car on a roof, or a redecorated building. April Fool's Day will soon be here and in celebration of the day, we are gathering stories of pranks that happened on Midland's campus. Tell us about a prank that you either pulled off or witnessed and share your photos. We will feature your stories on our website and on our Midland University Alumni Facebook page throughout the month of April.

Midland MBA Offers Real World Consulting Experience

When students enter the Midland MBA, they are starting on a path to reach their potential as business leaders. One of the ways this is accomplished is through the Global Consulting Capstone, the final step on the road to graduation that allows students to both synthesize all that they have learned and directly apply it as a global consultant.

One student who directly gained from this experience is Josh Steele, Class of 2016. Josh worked with his own employer, Kiewit Construction, on one of their international business segments. He and his team spent time working with Kiewit executives to help the firm understand the financial and strategic implications of remaining in or exiting a foreign market.
